

The MScCH Public Health Nutrition Program Presents:

Authentic Leadership Workshop

Facilitator Dr. Susan Lieff, MD, MEd, MMan

Friday May 22, 2009
8:30am- noon
155 College Street, Room 208

Authentic Leadership

Health professionals experience fulfilling practice when they are able to align their strengths, interests and core values with their daily work. Professional development opportunities that promote personal reflection on these areas are critical to developing rewarding career paths. In this half-day workshop, participants will be lead through a series of reflective exercises to help them identify the nature of meaningful work and individual leadership direction.

Workshop Format

- Interactive mini-lectures
- Workbook exercises
- Small group discussions

The Facilitator

Dr. Susan Lieff is a geriatric psychiatrist and clinician-educator in the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Toronto. Dr. Lieff is the director of several education and leadership programs at the Centre for Faculty Development and has received international recognition for educational excellence. Her research and professional interests include design and evaluation of development programs for educators and leaders in the health professions.

Fee: $50 (includes GST)

Light refreshment provided

Space is limited to the first 20 people who register.

For more information contact:

Ann Fox
416-978-3617

ann.fox@utoronto.ca

Registration Form

To register:

Make check payable to: The University of Toronto

And mail, along with registration form to:

Emelia D'Souza
Department of Nutritional Sciences
University of Toronto
150 College Street, room 316
Toronto ON M5S 3E2

Name: _____

Mailing address: _____

Telephone Numbers: _____

Fax: _____

Email: _____

Special food requirements:

Thank you
Receipts will be provided at the workshop